Dear ESSM Members,
dear Colleagues,
dear Friends,

I am happy and honoured to welcome you to the beautiful and romantic city of Lisbon on the occasion of our 2007 Annual Meeting. Professor Nuno Monteiro Pereira and his crew, on behalf of the Portuguese Society of Andrology have provided an outstanding support to the organization of the meeting.

I am sure that you will enjoy the scientific programme that is encompassing all the hottest topics in sexual medicine. You will easily realize that there is not one single European top opinion leader missing from the programme and this is the best guarantee for the positive final outcome of the meeting. We have received an overwhelming number of abstracts and the ESSM scientific committee has carefully selected the most interesting ones which will certainly stimulate a lively discussion during the scientific sessions.

Do not miss the opportunity to visit the ESSM booth during the congress. By becoming a member of ESSM you will receive for free The Journal of Sexual Medicine, the official journal of ESSM and the real Bible of our discipline. In addition you will also benefit of all the privileges reserved to the members of ESSM. The exhibition area will have numerous booths of the companies which have generously supported ESSM and I invite you all to spend your free time during breaks among sessions to visit them and learn more about their products. We also want to take the opportunity to invite you to the opening ceremony followed by a get together at the congress venue to socialise with your colleagues and friends!

This is my last year as President of ESSM. It has been a major honor and a privilege to serve you all over this term. ESSM is now the largest branch of ISSM and the European contributions to the field of Sexual Medicine are unanimously recognized. My successor Mr Ian Eardley is the best possible individual to take the lead and conduct ESSM to the exciting 2008 joint meeting with ISSM in Brussels.

This is my last opportunity to thank all of you for being so strong supporters of ESSM:
I will never forget this time of my life.

Enjoy the meeting!

Professor Francesco Montorsi, MD
ESSM President
Dear Colleagues,

It is a great honour and a supreme pleasure to welcome you to Lisbon, the venue of the 10th ESSM Congress 2007.

At the moment Lisbon gets ready to welcome the political leaders of the EU, who will sign the document which will be known in the European History as the Lisbon Treaty. Also more than two thousand physicians and scientists who will participate in the 10th Annual Meeting of the European Society for Sexual Medicine will be expected in Lisbon. We all hope that both events will be markers for the future.

All over the world Sexual Medicine explodes as an exciting branch of medical knowledge. Being an area that contains the medical aspects of sexual affairs and the sexual aspects of medical affairs, Sexual Medicine congregates an increasing number of specialists.

At the congress you will have the opportunity to experience a stimulating scientific program with up-to-date science and research findings in the wide field of Sexual Medicine.

And what to explore in Lisbon? Lisbon is a lively and attractive city with its own culture, history, architecture as well as its music which are omnipresent. Its open inhabitants underline the nice and friendly south European atmosphere of Lisbon. You will always find interesting spots to discover during day and night time. Therefore, we are very pleased to have Lisbon as a special place for the Annual Meeting of the European Society for Sexual Medicine.

Please take this opportunity to make new contacts and gain new scientific knowledge as well as unforgettable memories.

I am sure you will enjoy this 10th ESSM Congress.

ESSM Winter Sexual Medicine Specialist Training Course

23 – 25 November 2007, Lisbon

Following the highly successful ESSM Summer School Sexual Medicine Specialist Training Course, held in Oxford during July 2007, we offer a rolling programme of structured teaching for physicians seeking a specialist qualification in Sexual Medicine.

This programme will deliver 23 hours of structured teaching from the European Academy of Sexual Medicine syllabus, which may be credited towards the 120-hour teaching requirement which is a component of the Academy’s Fellowship programme. The programme will cover the following topics: sexual dysfunctions related to other medical problems; paraphilias; practical communication and counselling issues in Sexual Medicine; establishing a Sexual Medicine Clinic.

This 3-day residential Course will be held at the Altis Park Hotel, Lisbon, beginning at 08.30 on Friday, 23rd November and concluding at 14.30 on Sunday, 25th November. Only pre-registered delegates may attend; those interested in registering for or receiving more information about the Fellowship programme should contact Dr John Dean, at john@sexualmedicine.org.

The subsequent 3-day residential (23 hours teaching) Sexual Medicine Specialist Training Course will be held in Rome, in April 2008. A second 2-week residential (76 hours teaching) Sexual Medicine Specialist Training Course will be held during the summer of 2008. Further information will be available on the ESSM website in the next few weeks; please send all enquiries to Dr Dean, who should be able to provide more information by mid-December.

Portugal

Portugal has a rich seafaring past, superb beach resorts, wistful towns and a landscape wreathed in olive groves, vineyards and wheat fields. Littered with UNESCO World Heritage sites and graced by one of Europe’s most relaxed and attractive capitals, it also remains refreshingly affordable.

Portugal lies immediately west of Spain, and is buffeted along its southern coast by the Atlantic Ocean. To its west and southwest lie the islands of the Azores and Madeira, far out in the Atlantic. It measures just 560km north to south and a paltry 220km from east to west. The northern and central regions are heavily populated and characterised by rivers, valleys, forests and mountains - the highest range is the Serra da Estrela, peaking at Torre (1993m). The south is less populated and, apart from the rocky backdrop of the Algarve, much flatter and drier.

In the 15th century Portugal entered a phase of overseas expansion due to the efforts of Prince Henry the Navigator. Mariners set off to discover new trade routes and helped create an enormous empire that, at its peak, extended to India, the Far East, Brazil and Africa. This period marked the apogee of Portuguese power and wealth, but it faded towards the end of the 16th century. In 1755 Lisbon has been destroyed by three major earthquakes, tremors, a fire and a tidal wave. At the close of the 18th century, Napoleon sent expeditionary forces to invade Portugal but they were forced back by the troops of the Anglo-Portuguese alliance. During the 19th century the economy faltered and republicanism took hold. National turmoil led to the abolition of the monarchy in 1910 and the founding of a democratic republic. Nowadays savouring life slowly is a Portuguese passion, and much of the best is humble - traditional folk festivals; honest food simply dressed in olive oil; music that pulls at the heart strings, recalling past love and glories; and markets overflowing with fish, fruit and flowers.

City of Lisbon

Lisbon’s position on seven low hills beside a river once lured traders and settlers, and it’s still a stunning site. Add to that its cultural diversity, laid-back feel and architectural time warp it represents one of the most enjoyable cities in Europe.

At its heart are wide, tree-lined avenues graced by Art Nouveau buildings, mosaic pavements and street cafes. Seen from the river - one of the city’s many great viewpoints - Lisbon is an impressionist picture of low-rise ochre and pastel, punctuated by church towers and domes.

Lisbon is the kind of place where you can sit at street cafes - sampling food or fado - and watch the world go by. For the eager there are also plenty of cultural activities. In addition to architectural masterpieces at Belém, Lisbon has over 50 museums to visit. The Torre Belem, a hexagonal chess piece, symbolises Portugal’s glorious triumphs in the Age of Discoveries: it was from Belém that Vasco da Gama set sail for the New World. Designed by the brilliant Arruda brothers, Diogo and Francisco, the tower is a shaken-not-stirred mix of early Gothic, Byzantine and Manueline styles. Manuel I built it around 1515 to guard the entrance to Lisbon’s harbour, perhaps to catch invaders off guard.

Travel to Lisbon/Airport

Lisbon airport is the city’s main international gateway and located in 15 km distance to the city centre and congress venue. The taxi fare from the airport to any of the congress hotels and congress venue is expected to be approximately EUR 20 and a 20-minute drive.

Climate

Lisbon is located in a temperate climatic zone with a Central European climate influenced by the atlantic climate. In November the average daytime temperature is 15°C (63°F) and it slightly rains more than in other months.
Tours available will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis. We ask you to make your reservation in advance before arriving in Lisbon. All tours will start and end at the Lisboa Convention Centre if not mentioned otherwise.

Joint Congress of the European and International Societies
for Sexual Medicine

7-11 December 2008
Brussels Expo - Brussels - Belgium
www.issmessa2008.info

13th World Congress of the International Society
for Sexual Medicine

11th Meeting of the European Society
for Sexual Medicine
For oral use. CIALIS is available as 2.5, 5, 10, and 20 mg film-coated tablets.

Use in adult men
In general, the recommended dose is 10 mg taken prior to anticipated sexual activity and with or without food.

In those patients in whom tadalafil 10 mg does not produce an adequate effect, 20 mg might be tried. It may be taken at least 30 minutes prior to sexual activity.

The maximum dose frequency is once per day.

Tadalafil 10 and 20 mg is intended for use prior to anticipated sexual activity and it is not recommended for continuous daily use.

In responder patients to on-demand regimen who anticipate a frequent use of CIALIS (i.e., at least twice weekly) a once daily regimen with the lowest doses of CIALIS might be considered suitable, based on patient choice and the physician's judgement.

In these patients the recommended dose is 5 mg taken once-a-day at approximately the same time of day. The dose may be decreased to 2.5 mg once-a-day based on individual tolerability.

The appropriateness of continued use of the daily regimen should be reassessed periodically.

Use in elderly men
Dose adjustments are not required in elderly patients.

Use in men with impaired renal function
Dose adjustments are not required in patients with mild to moderate renal impairment. For patients with severe renal impairment 10 mg is the maximum recommended dose. Once-a-day dosing of tadalafil is not recommended in patients with severe renal impairment (see sections 4.4 and 5.2).

Use in men with impaired hepatic function
The recommended dose of CIALIS is 10 mg taken prior to anticipated sexual activity and with or without food. There is limited clinical data on the safety of CIALIS in patients with severe hepatic impairment (Child-Pugh Class C); if prescribed, a careful individual benefit/risk evaluation should be undertaken by the prescribing physician. There are no available data about the administration of doses higher than 10 mg of tadalafil to patients with hepatic impairment. Once-a-day dosing has not been evaluated in patients with hepatic impairment; therefore, if prescribed, a careful individual benefit/risk evaluation should be undertaken by the prescribing physician. (see section 5.2).

Use in men with diabetes
Dose adjustments are not required in diabetic patients.

Use in children and adolescents
CIALIS should not be used in individuals below 18 years of age.

A full updated SPC is available at the booth upon request.
